CALLING FOR PHOTOS FOR CEMETERY DATABASE

The Local History and Genealogy Center is in the process of updating its North Webster Cemetery Database by adding photos of individuals who are buried there. If anyone has a photo of someone buried in North Webster Cemetery or other Tippecanoe Township cemeteries and is willing to share it with the library, the staff will scan the photo and upload it to the database. Original photos will be returned after scanning. Digital photos can also be accepted. Digital photos can be emailed to bsmith@nweb.lib.in.us. Be sure to identify the persons shown in the photos. The cemetery database is a useful tool for those researching their family history. Many entries include copies of obituaries and death certificates that include details about individuals' lives.

North Webster Cemetery database, along with other resources, is available to the public on the library's website by clicking on the Local History and Genealogy tab at the top of the home page.

REVISIT PRESENTATIONS ON OUR WEBSITE

Each month the library will post a video of a past speaker presentation on the home page of our website. The speakers talk about a variety of interesting subjects including war experiences, police work, life in other countries, life in North Webster in bygone years, and more. All the presentations can be accessed anytime on the Local History and Genealogy page of the library's website at www.nweb.lib.in.us.

KEEP INFORMED OF WHAT'S NEW AT THE LIBRARY

The Newest Stuff at Your Library

You can keep informed of new titles that arrive each week at the library by signing up for a free service by Wowbrary. Each week you will receive an email newsletter showcasing new books and movies available at your library. You can sign up on the library's website www.nweb.lib.in.us. Simply click on the "More" link that appears below the scrolling books on top of the home page, then click on the Sign Up tab at the top and follow the instructions. This service also automatically posts to the library's Facebook page, so if you are a library Facebook follower it will also appear on your Facebook news feed. It's a convenient way to know what is new at the library.

LARGE PRINT BOOKS ARE EASY ON THE EYE

If eye strain prevents you from reading and enjoying books, try checking out some of our large print books. The library has added many new titles to its extensive collection of large print books. As opposed to regular size type which is usually 8 to 12 points, large print books feature 16 to 18 point type size making them easier to read for those with eye strain or vision problems. The large print collection includes many genres including non-fiction as well as romances, inspirational fiction, westerns, mysteries and thrillers, domestic fiction, historical fiction and more.

DELIVERY SERVICE FOR HOMEBOUND PATRONS

Do you know someone who is homebound and would like to check out library materials? The library's Homebound Delivery Program provides a free delivery and pick-up service for patrons unable to come to the library. A homebound patron can select materials from the library's website or the library staff can make selections based on the patron's preferences. A volunteer then delivers the materials and returns to pick them up. To be eligible for this service, a patron must be a resident of Tippecanoe Township, unable to come to the library due to a disability or illness lasting six weeks or longer, and have no one who can go to the library for them. To find out if you or someone you know is eligible, contact Adult Services Director Beth Smith at 574-834-7122 ext. 205 or bsmith@nweb.lib.in.us.

The library's public computers are available to anyone wanting to register for the Covid-19 vaccine on the State's coronavirus website. The staff is also available to assist you in navigating the website and scheduling an appointment.

CONNECT TO LOCAL SERVICES WITH BRIGHT BY TEXT

We are very excited to share a new free resource, Bright by Text, for parents of children 8 and under. Bright by Text provides tips, information, and resources to help all parents and caregivers give every child a bright beginning. Though the service is used nationwide, they also share content that is curated from local partners, which enables adults to connect to local resources. Bright by Text also works in conjunction with other resources such as PBS, Vroom, Sesame Street, and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. The service is free, includes two to four text messages per week with links to tips, videos and related developmental resources, and is available in English or Spanish. You will definitely want to check it out through these links: <https://brightbytext.org/home> and <https://www.kchamber.com/get-involved/launch-pad/>

MARCH TAKE HOME CRAFT

Pick up a craft in the Youth Department for the kids to create at home. Post a photo of your child's completed craft on the library's Facebook page or email the photo to plong@nweb.lib.in.us to get entered in the weekly drawing for a free book.
